

A case of self-surrender by mistake into a green solar telecom integrated cabinet

Overview

Defiant Law represents homeowners who were misled or harmed by residential solar panel sales, financing, and installations.

Defiant Law represents homeowners who were misled or harmed by residential solar panel sales, financing, and installations.

If your home has suffered damage due to a faulty solar panel installation—such as roof leaks, interior water damage, or electrical issues—you may be wondering if legal action can help recover those costs. The answer depends on who you're suing and the nature of your case. The solar industry has.

Most states provide legal protections for solar installations while allowing reasonable restrictions, and conflicts can be resolved through communication, HOA procedures, mediation, or legal action when rights are violated. The use of solar panels has surged across the United States as homeowners.

Attorney Macy D. Hanson is well-versed in the legal challenges surrounding solar financing, helping clients pursue direct claims against solar lenders while navigating the legal guidelines set by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and state-level consumer protection laws. This blog post explores.

In recent years, solar energy has been promoted as a sustainable solution to reduce carbon footprints and lower energy costs. As more homeowners and businesses embrace renewable energy, and the solar industry has experienced exponential growth. But with this expansion, has come an increasing number.

This action is brought by Michael P. Donovan, et al., ("plaintiffs") pursuant to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act ("ERISA") and the Labor Management Relations Act ("LMRA"). Although served with process, Smart Green Solar LLC ("defendant") has failed to appear or otherwise defend this.

Understand self-surrender: the deliberate process of presenting oneself to legal jurisdiction. Gain insight into its practicalities and the full scope of engagement. Self-surrender is a legal process where an individual voluntarily presents themselves to law enforcement or correctional authorities.
