Overview

Do solar panels have a payback period?

Several factors will influence the ROI of your solar panels. This payback period is not guaranteed. To figure out payback period without the solar panel cost calculator, we first calculate the true cost of installing solar after incentives have been claimed.

How do I calculate my solar payback period?

Cash purchase: When you buy your system outright, your payback period calculation is straightforward—just divide your total cost by annual savings. This approach delivers the shortest payback period and highest lifetime savings. Solar loan: With a loan, you'll need to factor in interest costs, which extend your payback period.

What is the payback period for an off-grid system?

Calculating payback period for an off-grid system is quite a bit more complex, based on two main factors: Battery-based systems cost quite a bit more up-front, and batteries have a shorter lifespan than your panels. Lead-acid batteries are the most cost effective batteries, but they are typically warranted for 3 to 7 years.

How long does it take to pay off solar?

For the average solar shopper, that translates to around $57,000 in savings over 25 years. Your payback period depends on your electricity costs, system size, and how you pay for solar. Some shoppers break even in five years. Others take closer to 15.
